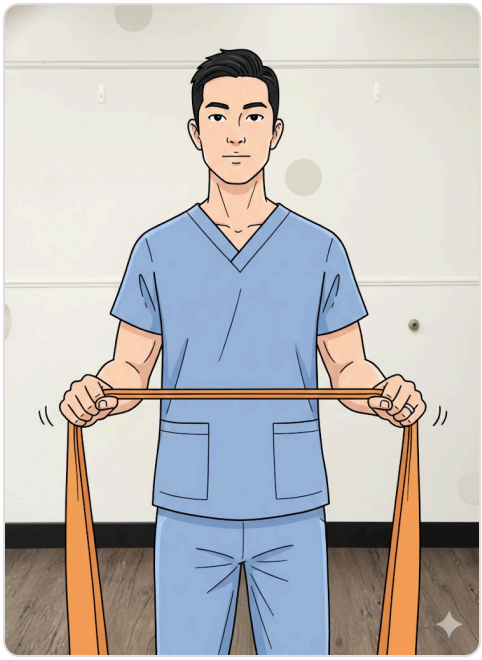
SHOULDER EXTERNAL ROTATION WITH RESISTANCE BAND

Wrap the exercise band around the base of the stairs or around a door knob. Hold the end of the exercise band with your injured shoulder's hand, tuck the elbow by your waist at all times and keep the hand by your stomach. Walk away from the door or staircase until some tension is felt. Then move your arm from your tummy to no further than your waist all the while keeping your elbow tucked and wrist straight. Do not move past any point of pain. Perform the movement smoothly and slowly. Then slowly return the arm back to the starting position by your tummy. Repeat this movement for 10 reps x 3 sets.

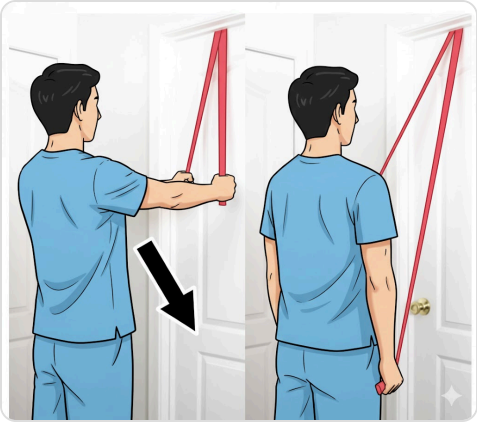


SCAPULAR RETRACTION WITH RESISTANCE BAND

Keep both elbows tucked in by your waist and tense the exercise band with both hands. Look forward and maintain a gentle chin tuck to keep your neck in a neutral position. Then squeeze the middle of your shoulder blades together while keeping your neck straight and then pull the band. Do not shrug your shoulders or rotate your arms outward. If you are having difficulty imagine squeezing something between your shoulder blades. Do not squeeze hard or to the point of pain. Repeat for 10 reps x 3 sets.

SHOULDER INTERNAL ROTATION WITH RESISTANCE BAND

If you were performing shoulder external rotation before this exercise simply turn around and start with your hand parallel with your elbow instead of by your waist. Wrap the exercise band around the base of the stairs or around a door knob. Hold the end of the exercise band with your injured shoulder's hand, tuck the elbow by your waist at all times and hand parallel with your elbow. Walk away from the door or staircase until some tension is felt. Then move your arm from your waist to your tummy all the while keeping your elbow tucked and wrist straight. Do not move past any point of pain. Perform the movement smoothly and slowly. Then slowly return the arm back to the starting position by your waist. Repeat this movement for 10 reps x 3 sets.



BANDED SHOULDER PULLS

Tie a knot around the middle of the exercise band and close the door. Keep your elbows straight as you are pulling the band down. Pull the exercise band down until both hands are by your hip. Then slowly return your arms to the starting position. Repeat this 10 reps x 3 sets.

These exercises are intended to be the most basic and equipment-free exercises to help current movement dysfunction, please try to perform daily and consult a physician if the exercise worsens your pain and function significantly.
